INDIVIDUALS

When a candidate is interested in missionary service with TEAM, they fill out a contact form on our website or talk with a missions coach.

The regional missions coach will contact the candidate to answer their questions and ask about their faith, calling, and interest.

If both parties are interested in moving forward, the missions coach calls the candidate's church, and together, the church and TEAM begin assessing the candidate for missionary service.

The missions coach walks with both the church and the candidate through the application process, answering questions and prayerfully discerning with them where God is calling the candidate.

After interviews, assessments, references and applications, the church gives its final assessment of the missionary candidate. Then, TEAM's review team meets together to prayerfully and thoroughly consider the candidate for service.

After the review team meets, the candidate will be appointed for service and invited to attend their first training, Missionary Orientation. A representative from the appointee's sending church is also invited to attend to learn about TEAM, missionary care, fundraising, and how to support missionaries well.

CHURCHES

When a church is interested in serving with TEAM, they contact us through email, phone or our website.

A member of our Church Engagement staff contacts the church and gets to know what God is calling them to do.

If the church is interested in moving forward, TEAM connects the church with either a short-term project or a long-term partnership, based on the church's calling, strengths and resources.

In both projects and partnerships, churches are invited to connect with the associated missionaries in order to see the impact their resources are making.

Each partnership is unique and collaborative, based on the ministry area's needs and the church's desire to serve.

If your church is interested in serving alongside TEAM, we'd love to get to know you. Contact us today at churches@team.org or (972) 370-3946.
